CarPartSource continues to expand its offerings to provide customer-focused, fast solutions for affordable car and truck fixes.

PALM BEACH, FLORIDA, USA, January 30, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- In challenging economic times, more people are looking for affordable solutions to solve their problems. This is particularly the case for unwelcome automotive surprises, where parts suddenly give out and need to be replaced. When going to a dealer or purchasing new, these replacement parts can cost thousands of dollars. However, by using a reputable online used auto part retailer like CarPartSource, drivers can save up to 80% or 90% on tested and reliable used parts – to keep their vehicle driving for less.

While shopping for used parts can often be an unpleasant experience, CarPartSource has always strived to change that notion by providing friendly, fast, and reliable service. Most importantly, it is trusted by thousands of customers who have purchased through it. This is due in part to the company's one year warranty and satisfaction guarantee policies, so that drivers will not feel disappointed with their purchase.

Another area that CarPartSource is unique is that it is female run – in an industry that is heavily male dominated. The company was founded in Florida by a father and daughter duo more than 20 years ago, who noticed customer demand for discount auto parts and wanted to connect customers to recycled auto parts nationwide. In the years since, Natalie Wlodarski and her team have grown the business to be among the leading used auto online retailers, especially for anti-lock brake ABS control modules, transfer cases, engine computer control units, and alternators.

In 2024, CarPartSource is continuing to grow its offerings, providing solutions for nearly any make and model of vehicles in the US. In addition, it is providing more educational materials to drivers to be aware of automotive issues, and to take care in advance of any issues that could cause serious vehicle trouble. For people who are unable to find the requested part on the CarPartSource website (<https://www.carpartsource.com>), they are able to call or email – and their needed part is likely in stock and able to be sent out in a timely manner.
