

Areon awaits exchange integration on January 31

Areon Network has launched its Layer 1 blockchain technology this month. The community patiently waits for the relisting date on Jan 31.

MALTA, January 31, 2024
/EINPresswire.com/ -- Altcoin community patiently waits as Areon Network is about to integrate their brand new Layer 1 chain with major exchanges.

Scheduled for January 31, the integration means relisting for their native currency $AREA and its highly anticipated return to the trading scene.

But why does it matter? Here is a bit of context first:

After a brief testnet period, Areon launched its mainnet on January 12.

It used to be a token on the Binance Smart Chain (BSC) and was already traded on several central exchanges.

But the transition to its own EVM-compatible chain required an integration period. Therefore, buying or selling $AREA was paused since January 14.

- Building Anticipation

This temporary halt in trading activity has fueled investors' interest and anticipation. In fact, their community is eagerly waiting for the date, some are counting the remaining hours.
