In 2020, Asia-Pacific accounted for the largest erotic lingerie market share of around 38.9% due to increase in disposable income as well as rise in penetration of smart phones. However, emerging countries in North America are anticipated to witness increase in demand during the erotic lingerie market forecast period due to presence of huge varieties in the erotic lingerie market.

Growth in value sales for erotic lingerie market is attributable to various varieties. Increasing disposable incomes, increased urbanization, and influence of Western culture has led to the rapid growth of the erotic lingerie market in the Asia-Pacific. Companies operating in the market are increasingly investing in marketing and sales infrastructure in the region to capture the growing market.

The desire to try and flaunt upcoming trends and fashionable lifestyle has increased considerably among consumers. This race to meet with the changing fashion trends has influenced women to purchase latest fashion designs, especially worn by celebrities and on the other hand subtly influences to discard phased out trending apparels. For instance, in the early 20th century, silhouette style gained high popularity. In addition, one-piece garments, curved, and bust-emphasizing brassiere and girdle (elasticized fabric) garters gained high traction in the global market. Moreover, one-piece corsets gained acceptability. However, later in the 20th century, erotic lingerie became stylish. In the present era, fashion trends have become bolder; erotic lingerie is not just limited to innerwear. Fashion trends are pushing consumers to exhibit their innerwear as outerwear. Thus, such dynamic fashion trends are emerging as the key factors influencing the erotic lingerie market trends.

Erotic lingerie industry has witnessed higher rate of penetration in North America as well as Europe region. However, low availability has been observed for these products in some major parts of LAMEA region, which is attributable to low performing macro-economic factors such as internet penetration and aggressive marketing strategies by the manufacturers. Thus, lower penetration of such products limits the growth of the erotic lingerie market.
