North America accounted for the largest market in the Collagen market. North America accounted for 38% of the worldwide market value. Due to the increasing recognition of collagen's health and wellness benefits in a variety of industries, North America is a major collagen market. The growing need for collagen-based products in the food and beverage, pharmaceutical, cosmetics, and healthcare industries is the main factor driving the collagen market in the region. Because collagen builds collagen, it is frequently used as an ingredient in functional foods and beverages in the food and beverage industry. The demand for products that support skin elasticity, joint health, and general well-being is rising in North America, which is driving up the market for collagen-infused goods.
