

50% Off Patented SIG Translation Service Only For Annual Conference Members This Weekend

All Translations Are Backed By A Five-Step Quality Control Process That Guarantees The Most

Accurate Patient Dosing Instructions

HARRISBURG, PA, UNITED STATES, February 2, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- RxTran, a division of Language Scientific, announces a 50%-off special offer of their SIG translation service for attendees of the Pennsylvania Pharmacists Association annual conference.

Conference participants are encouraged to visit Booth Number 27 in the Exhibition Hall to get a live demo of the patented transduction technology that guarantees the most accurate translations in the top 26 immigrant languages.

We stand by the accuracy of our patented technology and quality control process by guaranteeing each translation up to $5 million.”

Sharon Blank, CEO

This is the perfect solution for pharmacists who want to make sure that all their patients, no matter their primary language, get the same level of accurate dosing instructions.

“Our five-step quality control process for each translation ensures the most accurate dosing instructions.” said

Language Scientific’s CEO Sharon Blank. “We stand by the accuracy of our patented technology and quality control process by guaranteeing each translation up to $5 million.”

The 50%-off special offer is available to PPA Annual Conference participants.

“We look forward to having RxTran as a first-time exhibitor at this year’s annual conference,” said Pennsylvania Pharmacists Association CEO Victoria Elliott. “The PPA is committed to enhancing access to fair, equitable, and personalized pharmaceutical services through our resources and advocacy. Providing accurate dosing instructions to non-primary English speaking Pennsylvanian patients is a perfect example.”
