Growing up my mother would always tell me to use my resources. Tools were created to help us succeed. AI is the tool of the future that is changing our world today!”

Sharifah Hardie

candidate for California State Senate District 33, is making waves in the political world with her innovative use of AI and technology in her campaign. With the primary election just around the corner, Hardie is confident that her strategic use of these tools will lead her to victory.

Hardie's campaign has utilized AI-powered tools to generate new content for her campaign, including text, images, and video since its launch in 2021.

The use of AI has allowed her team to create a wide range of engaging and personalized content for voters, tailored to their specific interests and concerns. By leveraging technology, Hardie has been able to reach a larger audience and connect with voters in a more meaningful way.

In addition to using AI for content creation, Hardie has also consulted with some of the top names in technology to develop a cutting-edge political campaign. With their expertise, she has been able to implement innovative strategies and techniques to effectively engage with voters and gain their support. This has given her a competitive edge in the race and has solidified her position as a frontrunner.

Hardie's use of AI and technology in her campaign is not only groundbreaking, but it also reflects her commitment to utilizing the latest tools and techniques to serve her community. As a successful businesswoman and entrepreneur, she understands the importance of forward thinking, staying ahead of the curve and adopting new technologies. With her vision and determination, she is sure to bring fresh perspectives and innovative solutions to the California State Senate.

The use of AI and technology is no surprise to most. Hardie has been ahead of her time since she built her first website in 1994. As a .com baby, Hardie prides herself on being ahead of the curve. She consults with business owners daily through her marketing, PR, social media advertising and website design company, AskSharifah.com.

As the primary election approaches, all eyes are on Sharifah Hardie and her use of AI and technology in her campaign. With her strategic approach and the support of top technology experts, she is poised to secure a victory in the 2024 CA State Senate District 33 race. Voters can expect to see more innovative and engaging content from Hardie's campaign as she continues to utilize AI and technology to connect with the people of California.
