This collaboration not only aligns with our commitment to sustainability but also positions us as the most comprehensive provider of hydration products on the planet.”

Melissa Schechter CEO OES Global

The eco-friendly boxed water, packaged in 100% recyclable materials, reflects OES Global Inc's commitment to sustainability and reducing the environmental impact associated with single-use plastic bottles. What sets this collaboration apart is the opportunity for businesses in the hospitality industry, cruise lines, airlines, FBOs, events, conferences, and corporate hydration programs to personalize their boxed water with logos, branding, and messaging. This aligns perfectly with the growing demand for sustainable and branded products.

Melissa Schechter, CEO of OES Global Inc, is thrilled about the collaboration, stating, "As innovators in the industrial e-commerce space, we are excited to partner with Aqualy and introduce eco-friendly boxed water through Hydration Depot. This collaboration not only aligns with our commitment to sustainability but also positions us as the most comprehensive provider of hydration products on the planet.

Along with our new offering, Aqualy, HydrationDepot.com offers a wide range of products, from truckloads of Niagara bottled water to cases or pallets of electrolyte replacement products. Working directly with brands such as Gatorade, Sqwincher, Overtime, and many others, Hydration Depot's commitment to being a comprehensive solution for all things hydration distinguishes them in the industry.
