& CEO of the Community Foundation*

The Resilia platform provides nonprofits, foundations, and other grantmakers with a suite of features designed to strengthen the organizations' capacity and amplify their philanthropic impact. Funded by a donation from the Frederick A. DeLuca Foundation, the Community Foundation has gifted 25 local nonprofits with year-long access to Resilia, which provides access to tools and resources to aid them in raising funds, maximizing impact, and building capacity.

The Resilia membership includes online training courses, one-on-one coaching for the entire nonprofit staff and board members, orientations, a learning platform completed with templates and resources, communications forum, access to funder database, and more.

"As part of the Community Foundation's strategic plan, we are committed to supporting nonprofits by helping them build their capacity for fundraising, direct services, marketing and other key operations,” said Danita R. DeHaney, President & CEO of the Community Foundation for Palm Beach and Martin Counties. “We are truly grateful to the Frederick A. DeLuca Foundation for their generosity which has made our partnership with Resilia possible. We look forward to supporting and building the capacity of more local nonprofits who are on the frontlines serving Palm Beach and Martin counties.”
