

Relationship Experts Inspire Intentional Love with Their Unique Courting Story

OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLAHOMA, UNITED STATES, February 12, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Arpri Robinson, a research analyst, and Rachel Robinson, a behavioral health therapist, are poised to empower intentional singles by launching Clarity Relationships. The company will help equip intentional singles with resources and skills to navigate modern dating challenges.

We aim to share our skills and experiences with intentional singles, helping them navigate obstacles and fostering relationships that lead to healthy marriages.”

Rachel Robinson

Through Arpri's transformative journey from bachelorhood to loving husband and Rachel's expertise in behavioral health, the duo aims to demystify the process of building realistic and attainable healthy relationships.

According to the 2023 report by the Pew Research Center, three in ten Americans identify as single, with half of them expressing a desire for a relationship. Arpri and Rachel recognize the need to equip singles aspiring to build healthy romantic partnerships with tools to alleviate the pressures associated with dating, particularly for those who have faced challenges and may be experiencing a sense of hopelessness.

Originally from Illinois, Arpri found unexpected love in Oklahoma through the Tulsa Remote Program. The couple's paths converged, forming a special connection that defied initial skepticism.

"Our mission is personal. We aim to share our skills and experiences with intentional singles, helping them navigate obstacles and fostering relationships that lead to healthy marriages," explained Rachel Robinson.

The couple's first date marked the beginning of a unique bond, with shared values and faith shaping their connection. Overcoming a two-hour distance, their commitment and intentionality led to exclusivity within a month, an engagement after six months, and their wedding one year from their first date.

Arpri Robinson emphasized, "Our story is a beacon of hope, showcasing the realism and attainability of healthy, loving relationships. My wife and I date every day because our process was intentional – we recognize the value in each other."
