

HRlogics Launches Compliance Council: Committing to Quality-Focused Compliance for Unparalleled Business Outcomes

Elevating HR Compliance Industry Standards and Championing Client-Centric Solutions

BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA, UNITED STATES, February 14, 2024

/EINPresswire.com/ -- HRlogics is proud to announce the launch of its Compliance Council, a strategic advisory group dedicated to guiding our company in offering the most compliant HR product solutions and services. This council is a curated group of highly respected attorneys that possess extensive subject matter expertise in particular areas of HR compliance.

Each member of the Compliance Council was carefully selected for their profound understanding and experience in compliance laws, ensuring that HRlogics receives expert guidance in all aspects of compliance. The council boasts a diverse range of experts, from a former IRS tax attorney with expertise in tax incentive laws to ACA specialists with more than two decades of experience. The primary goal of the Compliance Council is to empower HRlogics to establish and maintain the highest standards of compliance within the industry.

More than just an advisory board, the Compliance Council reflects our company's commitment to compliance-first decision-making, where every decision is taken with compliance at its heart.”

Jennifer Calise, President of HRlogics

HRlogics understands that achieving compliance success is more critical than ever for our clients. Protecting companies from devastating financial setbacks or unlocking substantial savings hinges on the quality and depth of our Human Resources compliance services.

As the workforce solution industry shifts its priorities towards maximizing shareholder profits at the expense of customer service and unbiased guidance, the result is a decline in the quality of customer support. This erosion of service standards can directly impact organizations, leading to inadequate compliance performance and potentially compromising their operational success. Additionally, in an environment where employees are often reduced to mere data points, with their personal information used as a means to generate profit, it highlights the market's need for our steadfast commitment to client-centric outcomes and ethical standards.

As a company determined to bring back partnership, guidance, and the human aspect of customer care to the compliance industry, HRlogics has a clear mission: to offer employers a safe and trustworthy compliance partner, focused solely on client outcomes, and the formation of the HRlogics Compliance Council is a testament to that commitment.
