

Elton Ilirjani Hits the Runway Trifecta at the Fashion Designers of Latin America Show during NYFW The Shows 2024

NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, February 14, 2024

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Elton Ilirjani, international model, activist and philanthropist lit up the catwalk wearing creations designed by Jemma Russo, Agatha Ruiz de la Prada (Tristan Ramirez) and Emma (Paola Rosenberg) in a multi-show performance at the Fashion Designers of Latin America (FDLA) runway show during New York Fashion Week The Shows 2024 at Clinton Mercantile in New York City.

In 2023 Elton was appointed as an Ambassador of the Fashion Designers of Latin America (FDLA) and the NYFW shows were the grand finale of his time as Ambassador. The day prior to the start of the shows Elton was the Guest of honor at the Designers Dinner where he met with designers and organizers of forthcoming fashion week events in Latin America Fashion including Peru, Chile, Aruba, Costa Rica, Dominican Republic, and Mexico among others.

At the shows, Elton closed the show with the final look of Emma Peru as well as the finale of Jemma Russo, wearing a black and white look emblazoned with a white flower. At the Agatha De La Prada show, Elton modelled a very sportive look which he included his trademark flourish in support of genderless fashion, being the only model to wear high heels.

About Elton Ilirjani:

About the Fashion Designers of Latin America (FDLA): FDLA founded its development on providing exposure for established, emerging and upcoming clothing designers from around Latin America & around the world in an effort to extend meaningful fashion trade. Accomplishing this has been an undertaking in nurturing opportunities for the publicity of international talents whose creative abilities are overflowing but financial resources are not. FDLA prides itself on continuing its work throughout the year to build bridges engaging community inclusion by leading events, social activities and diversity initiatives.
