About Empowering Punch

With a combined 40+ years of experience between them, in 2008 Paul and Danyl created their vision of fitness done right. Professional boxer turned Personal Trainer combined with Personal Trainer turned Marketing Director made for an unstoppable team. Enter Empowering Punch.

What most don't know is that the concept actually began while Paul was doing in-home training. He had clients of all ages, shapes and sizes and trained them all in their living rooms. Along with his magical method of weight training, he incorporated his personalized boxing workouts into everyone's regime. The results were staggering and soon the demand became too much for a one-man show. The next step was crystal clear in both of their minds. It was time to open the doors to a dream come true for these inherent gym rats. Having been around the block in the fitness industry, their combined knowledge and skill set was priceless. The philosophy was simple: Unparalleled results, outstanding customer service and no attitudes. Keeping true to their promise, they have successfully created that exact environment. Clients transform their bodies and minds every day; everyone is greeted by name and the entire member base is a welcoming and supportive family to one another.

The staff is a carefully selected extension of the Scianna's passion and work ethic. The goal of each team member is to provide an amazing experience every class, every workout and every day. Whether you are in the building or training online, you will be knocked out by the power of Empowering Punch!

Empowering Punch is a results-driven, premier fitness solution. We offer private and group personal training, custom nutrition planning and coaching, a dynamic array of fat-burning fitness classes as well as individual and group boxing lessons. We also offer a wide variety of virtual fitness, nutrition and online personal training programs via our full-service Empowering Punch application. Created by a professional boxer and master trainer, Empowering Punch EMPOWERS you to reach goals beyond your expectations and helps you live a healthier life. Whether you are taking class, personal training in our private studio our sweating with us virtually, our certified staff is constantly monitoring and motivating you to ensure your workout is safe, effective and most of all fun!
