Bivona's artwork delves into themes of high femme queer presentation, sex work, capital, stigma, and more. Using unconventional materials such as body-grade silicone and petroleum jelly, she creates playful prints that challenge traditional notions of femininity.

The Paper Dolls exhibition will feature a double-sided tunnel book as well as an oversized book hanging from the ceiling. These multi-dimensional pop-up books serve as a visual representation of the struggles faced by women in modern society.

"We are thrilled to host Kristina Bivona's groundbreaking work at 365 Foundation," added Venezia. "Her art sparks important conversations about gender equality and empowerment."

The grand opening event for Paper Dolls will take place at the 365 Foundation Lansdale, PA Art Gallery on March 8, 2024 and runs through April 7th.
