

Expanding Skilled Trades Education: HVACRedu.net and Core Learning Exchange Forge Strategic Partnership

Empowering the Next Generation of Skilled Professionals Through Innovative Online Education and Industry Certification Prep

HERON, MT, UNITED STATES, February 21, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- HVACRedu.net, a leading provider of online HVAC/R training and education, is excited to announce a strategic partnership with Core Learning Exchange \(Core-LX\), a forward-thinking company providing 1,200+ industry certification prep courses on a mastery-based, digital platform for middle and high schools, community colleges, workforce training centers, and correctional facilities.

This collaboration aims to broaden access to state-of-the-art HVAC/R training and certification programs, particularly in markets with rigorous state requirements such as California, New York, and Texas.

Key Highlights of the Partnership:

Expanding Reach: The partnership leverages Core-LX's expertise in navigating state educational requirements and HVACRedu.net's comprehensive HVAC/R training programs to offer unparalleled learning opportunities across various sectors, including the burgeoning prison education program market.

First Offering – Certified Tech Program: The collaboration kicks off with the introduction of the Certified Technician Program, designed to meet the high demand for skilled HVAC/R technicians while addressing the standards of state and national technician certification agencies.
