

GovCon Collective Enters into Pioneering Alliance with Global Technology Consulting Firm MTX Group

Eight minority-owned businesses aligned recently to form GovCon Collective for providing local, state, and federal agencies skills across industries

ATLANTA, GEORGIA, UNITED STATES, February 22, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/

-- GovCon Collective, a government contracting alliance recently founded by eight minority-owned businesses from across the United States, is excited to announce its partnership with Texas-based global technology consulting firm MTX Group. Both organizations have deep government contracting experience. This partnership will better position each entity for securing further local, state, and federal agency business.

Through the partnership, members of both organizations will benefit from shared expertise and novel learning opportunities. The partnership will provide for an enriched calendar of networking events, the pooling of invaluable resources, and the inauguration of educational initiatives designed to cement and expand industry competence. GovCon Collective's affiliates will engage with MTX Group's advanced technology, while MTX Group will tap into GovCon Collective's expertise, particularly with federal government contracting.

"MTX Group is a global leader in digital transformation, and we are very excited to partner with them. The GovCon Collective has deep industry expertise and a diverse range of capabilities. This partnership will enable MTX Group and GovCon Collective to expand our footprint in the federal, state, local, and education government spaces," says Jody Mitchell of GovCon Collective.

As an immigrant from Bangladesh, MTX Group Founder and CEO is committed to supporting minority-owned businesses and creating equal opportunities.

"GovCon Collective enables MTX to expand its combined offerings for government agencies with outcomes in mind," said MTX Group Founder and CEO Das Nobel.

GovCon Collective has twelve different service offerings, including software development, AI/ML, geospatial analytics, data analytics, training, and staffing. Additionally, GovCon Collective's products consist of a learning management platform, an HR management platform, and an employability skills development platform for individuals with disabilities. MTX Group stands at the vanguard of business evolution, offering innovative solutions and digital transformation that create outcomes and empower companies to stay ahead of the curve in the dynamic marketplace.

"The mission of GovCon Collective aligns perfectly with MTX's commitment to diversity, ethics, and excellence in service. Our partnership enables us to bring combined offerings in government contracting, business strategy, and a diverse array of skill sets and experiences. Together we are committed to growing our partnerships in the state and local public sector marketplace. We look forward to driving data transformation and delivering meaningful outcomes to the communities we serve," said MTX Director of Government Affairs Chris Hess.
