

Drinkmate Introduces Drinkmate LUX, Stainless Steel Beverage Carbonator

High-End Stainless-Steel Model Added to Superior Line of Home Beverage Carbonators

ANN ARBOR, MICHIGAN, UNITED STATES, February 23, 2024

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Drinkmate today announced the introduction of their Drinkmate LUX stainless-steel beverage carbonator. Designed for both home and professional use, the new LUX elevates the carbonation experience with its top-of-the-line sophistication and style while providing the versatility and functionality that is inherent to the Drinkmate brand.

The Drinkmate LUX makes pro level carbonated beverages possible with its patented Fizz infuser technology that lets users sparkle any cold beverage. With stronger carbonation, and now with the beauty and durability of stainless steel, the new Drinkmate LUX makes every drink a deluxe experience. Among higher end carbonators on the market, the LUX exclusively offers a dual wall stainless, 0.7L carbonating bottle, plus the ability to carbonate any cold drink, not just water. Additionally, the double layer of stainless steel keeps carbonated beverages colder for longer periods of time compared to competing models.

Consistently cited as the best home beverage carbonators by major media including the New York Time's Wirecutter, People, and The Spruce Eats, Drinkmate enables consumers to add fizz to bottled water, tea, juice, energy drinks and even wine and cocktails.
