CRMIT Solutions*

global provider of digital transformation and decision science solutions, is pleased to announce the recent grant of a patent for its groundbreaking "Method & System for CRM." This innovative solution marks a significant advancement in their decision science landscape, addressing critical challenges and delivering unparalleled customer benefits.

This development comes at a crucial time when businesses are seeing the integration of technologies, including advanced AI with a social knowledge base. Some of the key applications for this patent include Healthcare Diagnostics - Power clinical decision support systems in making evidence-based decisions. These systems recommend diagnostic tests, treatment plans, & interventions.

Wealth Advisory - Incorporate financial-behavior principles and recommend diversified investment strategies based on their social network preferences that align with the client's risk tolerance and financial goals.

Hitech SaaS Support - Predict customer service requests before they arise, enable proactive service resolution, and enhance overall customer satisfaction and retention.

“Innovation is our DNA and our state-of-the-art innovation labs prove that CRMIT Solutions is the company for now and for what is to come. Our development centers comprise our patents, solutions, decision scientists, and engineers. That's what's behind our premier value mission.” explained Vinod Reddy, Founder & CEO, of CRMIT Solutions.

At the heart of CRMIT's vision lies the Enterprise Innovation Lab, where the company leverages the power of Generative AI (including GPTs) and predictive intelligence. Through this pioneering program, CRMIT has successfully curated patents, proofs-of-concept, and minimum-viable products, enabling seamless digital transformations and agile decision making.
