“

Mount Rushmore meant giving honor where honor was due, locally and nationally. And especially during Black History Month, it was a pleasure to raise a glass and toast these incredible individuals.”

Magic Johnson

“Thank you all for being here. It’s been a 15 year journey. I was telling Magic to see all of you getting the use of what we put our blood, sweat and tears into is emotional.” ~ Brett Mufson

The event was attended by many monumental figures including Doug Williams along with Leonardo DiCaprio, Shannon Sharp, Marcus Allen, Jerome Bettis, Tony Gonzales, Angela Rye, French Montana, Lance Bass, Blanco Brown, Jason “Poo Bear” Boyd, DJ Whoo Kid, DJ D’Nice, Shawn Porter, Becca Brazil, Ashlee Keating, Porscha Coleman, Joy Taylor, and many others. "Mount Rushmore meant giving honor where honor is due, locally and nationally. And especially during Black History Month, it was a pleasure to raise a glass and toast these incredible individuals. I am grateful for my accomplishments, including becoming the first African American owner of an N.F.L. Team – The Washington Commanders. And I would be remiss if I did not mention the first Black quarterback to start and win the Super Bowl, my friend, Mr. Doug Williams." ~ Magic Johnson

The event also recognized Jerrell Deborah Hall, Principal of Matt Kelly Elementary School, for dedicating her life to serving Las Vegas' urban communities, providing clothing and food for underprivileged students, and her welcome back-to-school day red carpet where her kids celebrate with extra special swagger to start a new year. Through Donors Choose, Principal Hall's school projects can be supported.
