

Native Americans and Italian Americans Launch “Solidarity Sessions – Bridging Cultures Against Cancel Culture”

Working together – Native American and Italian American Communities Unite to Oppose Cancel Culture

NORTHVALE, NJ, USA, February 28, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- In a groundbreaking initiative, The Italian American One Voice Coalition (“IAOVC”), America’s largest independent Italian American anti-bias organization, is proud to announce a series of collaborative sessions bringing together Native American, Italian American and other communities to oppose the pervasive threat of cancel culture. These “Solidarity Sessions – Bridging Cultures Against Cancel Culture” aim to foster understanding, promote dialogue and build solidarity among diverse groups facing challenges from cultural erasure and historical revisionism.

NAGA to Join with Italian Americans and others for Solidarity Sessions - Bridging Cultures Against Cancel Culture

As a result of the very successful recent joint presentation by Native American Guardian's Association (“NAGA”) founding member and President, Eunice Davidson and IAOVC President Andre DiMino, to a capacity crowd of Italian American organizations sponsored by Scranton UNICO, NAGA Board Member Tony Henson recommended that regular virtual video meetings be held. The purpose of the meetings would be to further collaboration among cultures to oppose the ubiquitous cancel culture negatively affecting Native Americans, Italian Americans and other cultures.

Cancel culture has increasingly become a concerning phenomenon in today's society. It often overlooks the complexities of history and cultural context, leading to the silencing of voices and the erasure of important narratives.

Native American and Italian American communities share a common experience of marginalization and misrepresentation in mainstream discourse. Both groups have faced historical injustices and stereotypes that continue to impact their communities today. By joining forces, they aim to confront the harmful effects of cancel culture and reclaim their narratives.

"These sessions will provide a vital platform for our communities to come together, share experiences, and explore strategies to combat the negative impacts of cancel culture," stated Mrs. Davidson of NAGA. "By standing in solidarity with one another, we can challenge the erasure of our histories and promote a more inclusive and equitable society."

Italian American One Voice Coalition invites you to join Zoom call March 10, 2024 7 PM EST. Reservation required - email info@iaovc.org to register.

The collaborative sessions will feature discussions and cultural exchanges. Participants will have the opportunity to engage in meaningful dialogue, learn from each other's perspectives, and develop actionable strategies to address the challenges posed by cancel culture.

"We are excited to partner with the Native American community in this important endeavor," commented Mr. DiMino of IAOV. "By coming together and amplifying our voices, we can push back against the harmful effects of cancel culture and celebrate the richness and diversity of our cultures."

The sessions will also highlight the contributions of both communities to American society and challenge prevailing stereotypes and misconceptions. Through storytelling and shared experiences, participants will celebrate their cultural heritage and reaffirm their commitment to preserving their identities in the face of adversity.

"We must recognize the interconnectedness of our struggles and work together to create a more just and inclusive society," said Mr. Henson of NAGA. "These sessions are just the beginning of a broader movement to oppose cancel culture and uphold the principles of free expression, diversity, and tolerance."

The first Solidarity Session will take place via Zoom on Sunday, March 10, 2024 at 7 PM Eastern. Members of the Native American and Italian American communities, as well as allies and supporters, are encouraged to attend and participate in this important dialogue. Reservation required – please email info@iaovc.org if you would like to participate.
