

Sports Medicine Specialist Joins AI Nexus Healthcare as Chief Healthcare Solutions Officer & GM Sports Medicine

AI Nexus Healthcare welcomes leading sports medicine expert Joel Redman to their leadership team.

CHAMPAIGN, ILLINOIS, UNITED STATES, March 4, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Joel Redman is an award-winning Musculoskeletal clinician and UK registered Osteopath. Joel began his successful career with five years of intense study at Oxford Brookes in Osteopathic Medicine, with a 1st class dissertation in headache management, setting the foundation for over a decade in clinical practice based in Oxford.

I am thrilled to help spearhead the design, development, and delivery of Sports Medicine applications with AI Nexus Healthcare as well as provide strategic counsel on broader healthcare solutions.”

He went on to thrive in the NHS setting, collaborating with a multidisciplinary team for chronic, complex pain patients at the RLHIM/UCL. His international experience includes working with elite strength athletes, designing and implementing the 'Summertown Sponsored Athlete Program'—delivering essential healthcare to underprivileged athletes and forming an integral part of a national concussion surveillance project in conjunction with premiership rugby.

Armed with an MSc in Sports Medicine, Exercise and Health from ISEH/UCL and further experience in Data Analytics from Imperial College, Joel brings unique expertise to the AI Nexus Healthcare leadership team. Joel’s thesis examined the intersection between physical activity and development of cardiovascular disease using wearable technology and machine learning.
