Chair WFA & VP Global Communications & Events*

Following the resounding success of the 2023 program, Alltech has renewed its support for another year, demonstrating its commitment to fostering diversity and inclusion in the industry. The WFA Mentorship Program has proven to be a beacon of support for women seeking guidance, advice, and networking opportunities in their careers.

Since the inception of the program, WFA has received an overwhelming response, with 3051 applications from individuals seeking mentorship and 1691 industry professionals offering their mentorship services. This remarkable level of engagement underscores the program's significance in addressing the need for mentorship opportunities within the food and agriculture sector.

To date, the program has facilitated over 562 pairings, connecting mentees with experienced mentors who provide invaluable insights and support. These pairings have spanned various roles and sectors within the industry, ranging from CEOs of agribusinesses to small-scale farmers, academics, and ag-tech professionals.

Elisabeth Mork-Eidem, Global Chair of WFA and VP of Global Communications and Events at Mintec, expressed her enthusiasm for the program's continued success, stating, "We are delighted to see the overwhelming response to the WFA Mentorship Program, which underscores the importance of mentorship in empowering women in the food and agriculture industry. With Alltech's ongoing support, we are confident that the program will continue to make a positive impact, fostering diversity and inclusion across the sector."

Orla McAleer, Chief Culture Officer at Alltech, reiterated the company's commitment to the program, stating, "I am excited to reaffirm our support and sponsorship of the WFA Mentorship Program in 2024. We believe in championing the advancement of women in this vital sector and helping to cultivate a more vibrant, equitable and diverse agricultural community. As a mentor and advisor to the program, I understand the value and impact the mentorship connection brings to everyone involved."

Applications for the 2024 WFA Mentorship Program are now open to individuals seeking mentorship, as well as industry professionals interested in offering their mentorship services. The program welcomes applications from across the global food and agriculture sector, and applicants will be personally matched based on their preferences and professional objectives.
