

The Methanol Institute Welcomes StormFisher as a new Member Company

WASHINGTON, DC, USA, April 22, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Methanol Institute (MI) is pleased to welcome StormFisher Hydrogen Ltd. as our newest member. StormFisher Hydrogen Ltd. develops, owns, and operates electrolysis-based clean fuel production facilities in North America. With its track record in developing and operating clean fuel facilities, StormFisher serves its customers with a sustainable and reliable fuel supply, to meet the needs of traditionally hard to decarbonize sectors.

The company produces clean hydrogen, e-methane, e-methanol, and green ammonia, creating local energy security, and providing export opportunities to Asia Pacific and European markets.

With their expertise in developing and operating clean fuel facilities, StormFisher is a valuable addition to MI's membership”

Greg Dolan

MI CEO Greg Dolan noted that "With their expertise in developing and operating clean fuel facilities, StormFisher is a valuable addition to MI's membership. As the clean energy transition continues to gain pace, StormFisher's e-methanol production will be part of the net-carbon neutral future."

"Our company is excited to join the Methanol Institute and collaborate on developing the eMethanol market and shaping supportive policies globally," said StormFisher CEO

Jud Whiteside. "Working together, we can drive methanol's potential as a key solution for decarbonization and sustainability."
