Cloud computing has become a key driver of digital transformation for businesses across various industries. It offers numerous benefits, including cost-effectiveness, scalability, globalization, digital transformation, disaster recovery and business continuity, and technological advancements. These benefits are driving the adoption of cloud services like IaaS. Businesses are seeking more agile and innovative solutions to stay competitive in the rapidly evolving market landscape.

Cost-effectiveness: IaaS allows businesses to reduce their capital expenditures by paying for only the resources they use, rather than investing in and maintaining their own physical infrastructure.

Scalability: IaaS providers offer flexible scaling options, allowing businesses to easily adjust their infrastructure resources based on demand spikes or changing requirements.

Globalization: As businesses increasingly operate on a global scale, the need for scalable and accessible infrastructure solutions becomes more critical. IaaS providers offer data centers located in various regions, enabling businesses to deploy resources closer to their target markets.

Digital Transformation: The ongoing digital transformation across industries is driving the adoption of cloud services like IaaS. Businesses are seeking more agile and innovative solutions to stay competitive in the rapidly evolving market landscape.

Disaster Recovery and Business Continuity: IaaS offers robust disaster recovery and business continuity solutions, allowing businesses to safeguard their operations and data against potential disruptions.

Technological Advancements: Advancements in cloud technologies, such as improved security measures, automation capabilities, and enhanced performance, are making IaaS more attractive to businesses of all sizes."

North America dominated the infrastructure as a service market with a 33% market share in 2021 and is expected to maintain its position during the forecast period, owing to the fact that leading vendors are focusing on the development of novel solutions, strategic alliances, and geographical expansion to strengthen their market presence globally.

APAC will account for 40% of market growth during the forecast period. In APAC, China and Japan are the most important markets for infrastructure as a service (IaaS). This region's market will grow faster than markets in North America, Europe, and the Middle East and Africa. Furthermore, the market is in its early stages in Asia-Pacific (APAC), Europe, and South America as a result of growing technological developments in cloud, analytics, and the emergence of mobile technologies. However, Asia-Pacific is expected to witness significant growth during the forecast period, owing to increase in adoption of fast internet connectivity including 4G connections, large population base, rise in competition among telecom & IT service providers, and increase in GDP.
