photographer and RootsTech
2024 Keynote*

introducing the event's theme "Remember" to a global audience. He shared an emotionally stirring and inspiring video and song ("Out of Time"). This song drove that our story is worth remembering and that we should reach out to those who have made positive impacts in our lives. Steve also touched on how generative artificial intelligence will play a role in continuing to help with personal family discoveries.

Watch Kristin Chenoweth. This Emmy® and Tony Award®-winning actress and singer, known for her extraordinary versatility and a voice that can reach the stars, lit up the RootsTech 2024 main stage. She talked about her life story, including adoption, and she sang some of her favorite Broadway scores. Watch her now for free on demand.

Watch Lynne M. Jackson. Jackson is an author and president and founder of the Dred Scott Heritage Foundation. Her legacy is so profound that it is written into the history books. Watch and listen as Lynne shares the amazing, inspiring story of her great-, great-grandparents, Dred and Harriett Scott, and continues to build the bridge from their fight for freedom to our lives today.

Watch Nancy Borowick. A world-renowned Sony artisan photographer and humanitarian award recipient, Borowick shared the gifts that cancer and death gave to her family. She explained that when you are faced with mortality, you truly begin to understand what it means to be alive, that it isn't really about dying but living. How do you want to be remembered? How do you remember the ones you love? For her, it's lovingly through photography.

Watch Henry Cho. An acclaimed comedian, and the first Asian-American to be inducted into the Grand Ole Opry, Cho showed how we can find humor in the everyday moments of life. From raising children, eating out, family vacations, and meeting his future in-laws, Henry's improv will certainly make you laugh. You will also enjoy hilarious insights into Cho's family story—a rich source of his standup content.

Watch Katie James. A famous Colombian singer-songwriter and guitarist, James shared her family story and performed her mix of Colombian Andean waltz music. She masterfully brought together the roots that connect us to the earth and the country through her unique style of Latin American folklore music. Her keynote is in Spanish with English and Portuguese subtitles.
