

Burlingame, CA Church Goes Green with Rooftop Solar - Likely Local First

Unique partnership allows church to align its beliefs with its practice by generating much of its energy from the sun!

BURLINGAME, CA, UNITED STATES, March 15, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The New Life Community Church of Burlingame, CA today announced the completion a new solar rooftop system. The 30-panel system will provide for the church's energy needs fully, for the part of the year that has sunlight, and partially between late December and mid-February. The project was completed with the financial support of The Elfenworks Foundation.

“We’re super excited about the opportunity to be more green.” said Stewart Perry, Senior Pastor of the church, adding, “Part of our belief is that God created this wonderful world we live in and as a result we should care for it. We believe God wants us to care for each other too. This project lets us do both.”

Ken Tam, CEO of The Elfenworks Foundation, added, “We are drawn to partnerships that spark lasting and measurable change, especially demonstration projects that are easily replicable. It’s the first church in our neighborhood, and as far as we know the first church on the San Francisco Peninsula to go green in this way. They’re pointing the way forward for others, and it’s inspiring.”

In addition to providing for the church’s appliances and keeping the lights on, it has enabled the church to take one of the buildings off gas heating entirely, shifting to electric heating that is powered by the sun and much more efficient. The church anticipates being able to take the other building off gas heating in future, as well.
