I am extremely grateful to all who attended, participated and contributed to the fundraiser. In order to relocate Happy Cat Sanctuary, we are still in need of additional financial support”

Chris Arsenault

The founder of Happy Cat Sanctuary, Chris Arsenault has selflessly devoted the past 18 years of his life rescuing, caring for and housing over 300 injured, abused, and feral cats. Arsenault transformed his home into a fairytale-like cat sanctuary shortly after his 24-year-old son, Eric, tragically died in a motorcycle accident in 2006. At the time of his son's sudden passing, Arsenault was working as a conductor for the New Jersey Transit when he discovered a colony of 30 sick kittens and decided to foster and nurse them back to health. Realizing the joy and fulfillment it brought him by saving these animals, Arsenault decided to devote his future and his life's mission to caring for disadvantaged cats and launched the Happy Cat Sanctuary in 2006.

During the charity event, Jeffrey Wands spoke to the 150 attendees and delivered personalized messages from loved ones who have passed on. These messages resonated with family members providing a level of comfort and accuracy. Guests mingled and sipped white and red wines and enjoyed displays of assorted hot and cold tapas/hors d'oeuvres, while relishing performances by singer Sal Manzo, Fred Astaire National and World Champions Artem Belmeha & Anna Schevchenko, and Ukrainian Ballroom Dance Champions Pasha and Iryna Vinichenko. "I am extremely grateful to all who attended, participated and contributed to the fundraiser. In order to relocate Happy Cat Sanctuary, we are still in need of additional financial support," explains Chris Arsenault.
