Key Events in the Diesel Exhaust Fluid Market

In January 2022, TotalEnergies is expanding in Mozambique with the acquisition of BP’s retail network, wholesale fuel business and logistics assets. The transaction covers a network of 26 service stations, a portfolio of business customers and 50% in SAMCOL, the logistics company previously jointly owned by TotalEnergies and BP, which operates the Matola, Beira and Nacala fuel import terminals. This expansion will help in sales of the DEF product for the company.

In August 2021, BASF and SINOPEC will further expand their Verbund site operated by BASFYPC Co., Ltd., a 50-50 joint venture of both companies in Nanjing, China. It includes the capacity expansion of several downstream chemical plants, including a new tert-butyl acrylate plant to support the growing Chinese market. This expansion will help SINOPEC to increase distribution of DEF products.

The following section of the report offers valuable insights into different regions and the key players operating within each of them. To assess the growth of a specific region or country, economic, social, environmental, technological, and political factors have been carefully considered. The section also provides readers with revenue and sales data for each region and country, gathered through comprehensive research. This information is intended to assist readers in determining the potential value of an investment in a particular region.

□ North America (United States, Canada, and Mexico)

□ Europe (Germany, France, UK, Russia, and Italy)

□ Asia-Pacific (China, Japan, Korea, India, and Southeast Asia)

□ Latin America (Brazil, Argentina, Colombia, etc.)

□ The Middle East and Africa (Saudi Arabia, UAE, Egypt, Nigeria, and South Africa)

The North American region dominated the market with a 45 % share in 2023. The North American region is expected to witness significant growth from 2024 to 2030 at forecast period. Both the US and Canada have a huge number of automobiles on the road and strict emission regulations, such as the US Clean Air Act (CAA) that is driving the diesel exhaust fluid market of North America. The high demand for diesel-intensive cars and equipment is a result of Mexico's growing economic activity and better business climate, demand for DEF in the country has been driven by respect to emission rules. Canada has comparable demand and regulatory patterns to the US, therefore it is expected to have similar DEF demand trends.
