

OTG Video Takes the Director's Chair at Belmont Media Center's Annual Meeting

WALTHAM, MA, UNITED STATES, March 19, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- A few weeks ago, on February 29th, OTG Video Productions had the pleasure of directing the live broadcast of Belmont Media Center's annual meeting. As a proud member of the Belmont community, supporting local initiatives is at the core of OTG Video's mission. David Emello, the president of OTG Video, maintains a close relationship with the Belmont Media Center and expressed his excitement to collaborate with them on this project.

The partnership between a non-profit entity like the Belmont Media Center and a for-profit enterprise like OTG Video Productions exemplifies the power of collaboration in the media industry. It was a perfect synergy of resources and expertise, resulting in a successful and impactful event.

From the get-go, OTG Video was instrumental in setting up the studio for the event. Their meticulous attention to detail and technical know-how helped create the perfect backdrop for the festivities. Additionally, they lent a helping hand with set preparation, ensuring that every aspect of the production was top-notch.

OTG Video Productions has been accustomed to spreading its wings across the New England region in past productions, hence the opportunity to contribute locally has brought a refreshing change of pace. While they're certainly appreciative of touring the scenic landscapes of the Northeast, there's something special about being able to operate right in their own backyard. This recent endeavor hit close to home for the production company, highlighting the significance of community engagement and local involvement in their mission.
