Tokyo-Based Entrepreneur Donna Burke Brings Privacy to Restrooms Across America with Eco-Friendly Noise-Masking Technology

TOKYO, JAPAN, March 19, 2024

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Royal Flushh, a leading Japanese innovation designed to transform bathroom experiences, announces its launch in Western markets. This introduction marks a significant milestone, allowing Western consumers to embrace the serenity and privacy long cherished in Japanese restrooms.

Royal Flushh's innovative Japan Toilet Sound device employs soothing forest and water noises to discreetly mask bathroom sounds. This innovation is already a staple in Japan, offering users a sense of tranquility and privacy in moments that are often considered awkward.

Donna Burke, the Tokyo-based entrepreneur behind Japan Toilet Sound - Royal Flushh, shared her vision: "Restroom comfort is taken very seriously in Japan. Everyone deserves to experience comfort and discretion in their most private moments, without the worry of being overheard. I'd love to see this privacy device used globally."

The Royal Flushh gadget also addresses environmental concerns by reducing the need for wasteful practices like "double-flushing" or excessive use of toilet paper to cover up sounds, offering a sustainable solution to common bathroom etiquette challenges. Easy to install in any bathroom setting, Royal Flushh is designed to suit a wide range of spaces, from personal ensuites to high-traffic public restrooms, with simple mounting options included.
