

Apex Companies, LLC Acquires PBS Engineering and Environmental Inc.

This acquisition expands Apex's multi-disciplinary engineering and consulting capabilities and strengthens their presence in the Pacific Northwest.

ROCKVILLE, MD, UNITED STATES, March 21, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Apex Companies, LLC (Apex) today announced the acquisition of PBS Engineering and Environmental Inc., (PBS), a Pacific Northwest regional leader in environmental consulting & engineering services across infrastructure, private, public, education, and industrial markets.

The acquisition of PBS is the latest investment by Apex, a national leader in water, infrastructure, environmental services, health & safety, and compliance & assurance.

Founded in Portland, Oregon, PBS employs ~300 professionals with expertise in engineering, surveying & UAS, health & safety, and environmental services. The firm serves clients across the Pacific Northwest with 8 locations across Oregon and Washington. Founded in 1982, PBS has established a strong and loyal client base and earned industry accolades for the quality of their work, the integrity of their people and business practices, and their strong commitment to a sustainable future.

"We're especially enthusiastic about the positive impacts joining with Apex will have on both current and prospective clients," said Brian Stanford, President and CEO of PBS. "Combining our talented teams allows both companies to offer a wider range of services, enhances our geographic coverage, boosts our workforce, and empowers us to address a wider array of client needs in-house."

PBS will operate as PBS, an Apex Company, within Apex's West Region Business Unit, which will be led by Brian Stanford.

"PBS brings to Apex a highly capable management team, an impressive and diverse talent base, and a reputation for excellence in client service and technical execution," said Apex President & CEO David Fabianski. "The combined capabilities of PBS and Apex, along with our aligned values and culture, provide us an even stronger platform for delivering excellence to our clients, and growth and value creation for our employees and investors."
