Definition:

Halal cosmetics were introduced particularly by keeping the Muslim community in mind as this community is very much conserved about the sharia law which prohibits consumption and application of various things like alcohol, pig fats, and chemicals which are commonly found in cosmetic products. Halal cosmetics do not contain any kind of alcohol, petrochemicals, fatty acids, and ingredients that are obtained from animals like a pig. The basic idea behind this market is that wants to provide clean products without using the ingredients that the Islamic community won't accept. Halal cosmetics don't include ingredients derived from animals, genetically modified organisms (GMOs) that are affirmed as unclean according to Islamic law. Neither do they contain alcohol which has several negative effects on the skin? These beauty/personal care products are Vegan and Cruelty-Free at the same time. They are enriched with the goodness of powerful actives and proven natural ingredients. It is a holistic approach ensuring the safety of the users as well as the environment. Halal is the ultimate stamp of purity and safety guaranteeing superior quality products. Halal is an Arabic term meaning "lawful or permissible. It not only encompasses food and drink but all matters of daily life. According to Islamic law, the consumption of pork, alcohol, and blood is prohibited.
