SEATTLE, WA, UNITED STATES, March 27, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Seasons Leadership

Podcast, hosted by Debbie Collard and Susan Ireland, shares practical, actionable advice leaders can apply now to improve their leadership and life. Today the podcast released episode 57: "Working Together and Love by Design with Alan Mulally," featuring the former president and CEO of The Ford Motor Company and Boeing Commercial Airplanes.

There is something unbelievably positive about working together to serve with humility and love to create value for all the greater good."

Alan Mulally

In this episode, Mulally shares how his upbringing shaped the development of his well-known and successfully implemented Working Together Leadership and Management System and how leaders can start to put the "Working Together" principles into practice. From the engineering marvel of Boeing's 777 development to the boardroom of Ford, the episode explores how love, humility and service are essential ingredients in crafting a culture of excellence.

"People come with a lot of different beliefs and values but here is what happens. When you are aligned, when you have to be this way and follow those behaviors of respecting each other and loving each other, working together, then you move really fast from 'I' to 'we' and 'me' to 'service.' So now your beliefs and values of humility, love and service get really aligned and now you are [on the path to] life-long learning and continuous improvement," said Mulally.

Mulally shares how he brought the same "Working Together" principles to his family of 7 demonstrating the universal nature of this system of love and service. "There is something unbelievably positive about working together to serve with humility and love to create value for all the greater good," said Mulally.

Sarah McArthur, editor in chief of the 14-time Apex Award winner "Leader to Leader" journal and partner and trusted advisor to Alan Mulally, joins the podcast. McArthur contributed to the extensive resource charts that accompany this special episode.
