

Boom America Spotlights Grasstik: A Revolution in Outdoor Fencing

LOS ANGELES, CA, US, March 26, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Adersa Group LLC, a leader in pioneering outdoor solutions, is thrilled to announce its upcoming appearance on the Boom America TV show, hosted by the renowned Kevin Harrington. Being chosen for Boom America, a platform that showcases companies revolutionizing their industries, highlights the company's creative approach and its commitment to enhancing outdoor environments.

At the heart of Adersa Group LLC's product lineup is Grasstik, a novel fencing solution that marries artificial grass with galvanized wire, offering a durable, stylish, and maintenance-free privacy fence. This unique product offers UV protection, is fire retardant, washable, and wind-resistant. Its easy installation process eliminates the need for irrigation, gardening, or ongoing maintenance. Grasstik, combining the utility of a chain-link fence with the aesthetic appeal of artificial grass, is a versatile product. It can enhance existing chain link, wood, wrought iron fences, or concrete walls, or be utilized as a standalone chain link fence.

Grasstik represents a modern and chic alternative to conventional fencing. By integrating artificial grass with chain link fencing, it boosts the privacy and visual appeal of outdoor areas, offering a vibrant, low-maintenance option for both homeowners and businesses.

"I am truly excited about our upcoming appearance on the Boom America TV show, where we will have the opportunity to showcase the transformative potential of Grasstik. Our innovative solution not only enhances the privacy and ambiance of outdoor spaces but also offers a sustainable and hassle-free alternative to traditional chain-link fences," says Asiye Kilic, Sales Manager of Adersa Group LLC.

Adersa Group LLC's vision with Grasstik is to transform outdoor spaces into beautiful, functional, and sustainable environments, making it a perfect fit for the Boom America platform, which celebrates such innovative approaches to traditional challenges.
