BlytzPay and PassTime collaboration will ensure customers have simple, easy and compliant ways to make their auto loan payment so they can stay on the road and auto dealers have a way to offer financing and manage risk.

Two-Way Dealer Interactions

The partnership facilitates immediate communication between customers and dealers, allowing for swift issue resolution and enhancing customer support and dealer responsiveness.

Proactive Engagement

Payment links are sent automatically to notify a customer of their delinquent status, preventing the escalation of payment issues. This allows for easy, compliant customer self-service without need for communication with the dealer.

Customers can make their payments in an easy-to-use platform, using the same payment methods anytime, anywhere, simplifying the process for users to stay current and manage their auto loan obligations.

Real-Time Data Integration

Direct integration between BlytzPay and PassTime eliminates the need for multiple handoffs between systems that can enhance compliance risk.

"This partnership represents a significant step forward in the BPH sector," said Robyn Burkinshaw, CEO and Founder of BlytzPay. "By combining our expertise with PassTime's innovative technology, we can provide dealers and their customers with a seamless payment experience that meets their evolving needs."
