This SaaS platform provides relevant contact details fleet sizes, and locations for executives that operate a fleet of big rig trucking engines. With Trucking Tower Leads, the research of fleets and executives at those fleets has been done. Rather than spending $30,000+ on various lead list downloads and over 300 manual hours scrubbing data, this database provides the information for executives with fleets of engines without the clutter of consultants, freight brokers, and technology platforms.

The challenge with finding trucking fleet executives has always been how broad the transportation industry is and how many types of companies fall under the transportation category even when using SIC codes or NAICS codes. Now, companies can access the specific executives that operate fleets of big rig trucks.
