The detailed report covers vital aspects such as hiring trends within the legal U.S. cannabis industry, job projections extending through 2028, and national salary ranges for over 70 prevalent cannabis positions in the US.

Designed to serve the needs of both employers looking to make informed decisions and cannabis enthusiasts exploring career opportunities, this guide has proven to be an essential resource.

Liesl Bernard, CEO of CannabizTeam, commented on the industry's resilience and potential for growth despite facing challenges such as layoffs and over-taxation. Bernard highlighted the anticipated reclassification of cannabis, the gradual expansion on the East Coast, and the growing societal acceptance as indicators of the immense potential awaiting to be harnessed. She noted, "We're only at the beginning of this exciting journey."

The salary ranges featured in the 2024 Salary Guide are based on CannabizTeam's proprietary salary data, comprehensive salary surveys, and meticulously curated independent research collected through the end of Q4 2023.

In an industry where knowledge is indeed power, the insights provided in the Salary Guide offer a strategic advantage for employers and employees alike, underscoring the guide's role as a key resource in the cannabis sector.
