Manufacturers of bathroom vanities encounter a wide range of issues and difficulties as a result of the high price of wood as well as the lack of high-quality wood in ample supply. Moreover, marble is a widely used raw material for bathroom vanities. Michael Angelo, Golden Flawless White, Statuario, Fantastic Silver, Grey Picasso, Manhattan, Grey Frappuccino, and Colatina are some of the most popular varieties of marbles used in the bathroom vanities industry. However, due to its rarity, resilience, and timeless beauty, marble is very expensive. Furthermore, it elevates any environment and real stone is in high demand. These are some of the main explanations for marble's unusually high price as a result.

Cutting-edge technology, such as faucet technology is anticipated to accelerate market expansion and the bathroom vanities market growth
