In June 2021, Johnson Controls added the Quantech QWC4 Water-Cooled Screw Chiller to its product portfolio, which uses variable speed drive technology to reduce carbon emissions and provide flexibility in handling high-lift applications. The Quantech QWC4 chiller also reduces environmental impacts by directly managing refrigerant charges and potential leak points.

In June 2021, GEA Group Aktiengesellschaft signed an agreement to sell its refrigeration contracting operations in Spain and Italy to Clauger, the French family-owned company, which specializes in industrial refrigeration and air-conditioning systems.

In May 2021, Johnson Controls selected R-454B, a lower GWP refrigerant, to replace R-410A in its ducted residential and commercial unitary products as well as air-cooled scroll chillers. R-454B is more compatible with existing R-410A equipment designs, requires a lesser or similar refrigerant charge, and can reduce the energy use of HVAC systems and improve system efficiency.

In May 2021, Johnson Controls announced a partnership with its joint venture company, Johnson Controls-Hitachi Air Conditioning, to offer wide-scale distribution of its industry-recognized line-up of Hitachi horizontal scroll compressors in North America. This offering aligns the innovative Hitachi scroll compressors with the strength of PENN[®], an industry-leading brand from Johnson Controls, backed by more than a century of commercial refrigeration expertise.

In March 2021, Emerson Electric Co. launched a range of two-way and three-way solenoid valves that support original equipment manufacturers' (OEMs) need to develop more compact machines and equipment without compromising fluid control performance. ASCO[™] Series 256/356 offers a smaller footprint, up to 40% reduced power consumption, and up to 30% higher pressure ratings.

APAC is expected to be the fastest-growing industrial refrigeration market. The market's expansion can be ascribed to the region's burgeoning pharmaceutical industry, as well as government subsidies for enhancing cold chain and preservation facilities. In APAC countries like India, China, and Japan, refrigeration storage capacity is increasing.

Additionally, governments in a number of APAC countries support the Montreal Protocol plan to phase out ecologically damaging refrigerants, opening up a slew of prospects for natural refrigerant-based refrigeration system providers. As a result, government attempts to improve cold chain management systems are likely to be a major driver of industrial refrigeration growth in the APAC area.
