At the event, attendees can look forward to spending time with the community, sharing knowledge, and enjoying a range of activities, including over 60 exhibitors that sell unique accessories, services, and products for Tesla and SpaceX; a special camping expo; a Super Modified Tesla Car Contest; a Pro Tips and New Owners Orientation tent; and a Cybertruck Showcase featuring a collection of uniquely modified Cybertrucks. Additionally, attendees can learn about the latest in Tesla vehicles and energy products, charging, customizations, tires, and other related topics.

The weekend will be highlighted by keynote presenter Franz von Holzhausen, chief designer at Tesla, and Jared Isaacman, American entrepreneur, philanthropist, and commercial astronaut.

"We are thrilled to unveil X Takeover and provide attendees with a unique opportunity to immerse themselves in the worlds of Tesla, SpaceX, and beyond," said John Stringer, President of Tesla Owners of Silicon Valley. Our event will allow attendees to learn from industry experts, connect with like-minded individuals, and experience Tesla's and SpaceX's latest technological advancements, and we can't wait to share them with the world."

X Takeover will also feature a variety of food trucks, innovative merchandise vendors, and entertainment options to ensure a fun and memorable experience for attendees of all ages.

Secure your seat at the ultimate experience for Tesla, EVs, SpaceX enthusiasts, digital connectivity, and entrepreneurial innovation. Tickets for X Takeover are available now at XTakeover.com.
