The ticking debt bomb threatens our future. We must act before it's too late.”

David Walker

“The United States remains a great nation. However, America faces a range of major challenges that threaten the collective future of the nation and its citizens,” Walker explains. “These challenges are not being effectively addressed by the President and the Congress. This must change if we want our future to be better than our past.

This book provides a road map of what to do, and how to get it done."

Featuring a Foreword by Admiral Bill Owens, former Vice Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and endorsements from distinguished figures such as Admiral Mike Mullen, Former Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Hon. John Hamre, CEO of the Center for Strategic and International Studies, and Maya MacGuineas, CEO of the Committee for a Responsible Federal Budget, the book is endorsed by prominent voices across various sectors.

David Walker, a seasoned public servant with a distinguished career spanning presidential appointments from Reagan, Bush (41), to Clinton, brings a wealth of experience to bear. He has received Presidential appointments from Presidents Reagan, Bush (41), and Clinton with unanimous confirmation by the U.S. Senate each time. He has served as CEO of three federal agencies, two non-profits, and as a Partner and Global Managing Director for Arthur Andersen. Federal Fiscal Sustainability Foundation

Additionally, Walker is a member of the board of the Federal Fiscal Sustainability Foundation, championing legislative efforts such as H.C.R. 24 introduced in Congress recently. This legislation mandates Congress to fulfill its obligation under Article V of the Constitution to certify and count state resolutions and call the convention. Private nonprofit organizations are also collaborating with state legislators, governors, attorneys general, and other state officials to petition the Supreme Court for a declaratory judgment, compelling Congress to record, count the applications, and call a convention for a fiscal responsibility amendment to the Constitution.

"The ticking debt bomb threatens our future. We must act before it's too late," Walker emphasizes. "Unchecked, this looming crisis has the potential to erode the very foundation of our nation's prosperity and security. It demands urgent and decisive action from all levels of government, as well as active engagement from every citizen. The consequences of inaction are too dire to ignore. We owe it to ourselves and future generations to confront this challenge head-on and implement the necessary reforms to secure a better future for America and Americans."
