COLUMBIA, SC, USA, April 8, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Restaurantji, a fast-growing dining guide and restaurant review platform, announces the launch of its mobile app, introducing a new way of finding your next favorite restaurant. The app took a page from online dating services. Users can 'swipe' through restaurant profiles, save their favorites, and easily find places near their frequent locations.

"Finding a good place to eat can definitely be a struggle," said Elijah Puzhakov, Project Manager at Restaurantji. "Our app makes exploring new restaurants super fun. It's like going on a bunch of little food dates until you find the one you really click with."

The new 'restaurant Tinder' feature allows users to swipe through restaurant profiles and saving favorites. The app also has an upgraded search engine, ways to customize your profile, and the ability to save frequent addresses like home, work or school. That way, you can easily find restaurants wherever you are.

Restaurant search results are based on an algorithm that takes ratings and reviews into account to ensure reliable and legit results. Restaurantji promises an easy and practical way to find
