FEED YOUR HEAD

Feed Your Head is a forum for people of integrity and goodwill to ponder life's biggest mysteries, to ask probing and uncomfortable questions, and to be open to novel answers—as counterintuitive as they might sometimes seem. But most of all, Feed Your Head, is a joyful celebration of reality itself. We are a collective of thinkers who have come to the realization that much of modern science and philosophy is deeply in the thrall of materialist thinking at the moment. We are concerned that this worldview has a negative impact on human thriving and may contribute to the current epidemic of anxiety, depression, and addiction that plagues our culture. After all, if we're nothing more than the interaction of atoms and electrochemical impulses, there's really not much to get excited over. Visit, <https://www.feedyourhead.blog>

Join us at MCM Studios for an enlightening evening, and be part of a conversation that promises to challenge and expand perspectives. For further inquiries:
