Family Law

Family law is all about helping families solve their problems, whether it's divorce, custody of children, dealing with Child Protective Services, or protecting those we love. Sheila and Trevor have been there for many, guiding them with care and expertise.

When a family decides they can't live together anymore or face situations unforeseen, it's hard on everyone, especially the kids. Our job is to make things as smooth as possible. We sit down and talk about what each person wants and needs. Then, we work really hard to find a tailored, personal solution to fit our client's needs and wishes for them and their family.

Mediation Services

Not all disagreements need to end up in court. We believe in solving problems. Their mediation services have helped many people reach agreements without the stress and cost of a court battle. At SHEA | BEATY, we offer mediation services, which is a special way of helping people solve their problems without having to go to court.

Mediation serves all parties by giving them a chance to craft a solution, with the help and wisdom of an experienced mediator, that is tailored to the parties' specific needs, circumstances, and wishes.
