

RPG Acoustical Systems, LLC Introduces Trio of Interactive Online Tools to Transform Acoustical Design and Construction

PASSAIC, NJ, USA, April 22, 2024

/EINPresswire.com/ -- RPG Acoustical Systems, LLC proudly announces the release of three new interactive online tools: COMP, VIPR, and BIM/REVIT FILES, setting a new benchmark for ease and efficiency in the design and construction industries.

COMP - A powerful resource for professionals to access and compare the acoustic performance data of RPG's comprehensive product lines, making selection processes more straightforward than ever.

VIPR - Allows designers to experiment with different patterns and finishes, providing not just aesthetic but also performance guidance for how RPG's acoustic solutions will contribute to the vision and goals for their space.

With these tools, we're not just providing products, we're offering solutions that integrate into the planning and development phases of any project.”

Jeff Madison, President at RPG

BIM/REVIT FILES - Ready-to-use, easily accessible BIM objects, acknowledging that over half of AEC professionals now incorporate BIM into their projects.

industry by embracing technology that supports innovative and effective design.”

These tools are now available on RPG's website and represent the company's dedication to supporting the evolving needs of architects, designers, and construction professionals.
