increasing trend of cross-collecting, the event will include a specialist edit of the best watches, jewelry, real estate, wine and spirits.

The groundbreaking auction is the first-ever exhibition of luxury real estate to gavel live in Europe at Sotheby's since its inception in 1744, setting a new benchmark for the industry.

Chad Roffers, CEO and co-founder of Sotheby's Concierge Auctions, stated, “'Rancho El Salto' is a second-to-none Mexican retreat, offering pristine valley views, endless outdoor experiences, and contemporary elegance. We're honored to continually offer the world's most unique properties to well-qualified bidders, with this stunning ranch being just the latest example of our diverse offerings in Mexico and across the globe."

Equestrian ranch estate on over 65 acres

In addition to its nearby immaculate forest, rivers, lakes, and waterfalls, 'Rancho El Salto' boasts a plethora of outdoor experiences, creating the perfect balance between relaxation and enjoyment. The ranch offers facilities such as a swimming pool, jacuzzi, swim lane, soccer field, paddle tennis court, horse-riding arena, fully-equipped stable, golf green with nine tees at different distances, and a greenhouse. The country house, tinged with Italian Tuscany accents throughout, spans 19,375 square feet and offers seven bedrooms, seven full bathrooms, and four partial bathrooms. Surrounded by lush gardens and expansive grounds, the home also features a separate space called the 'Palapa,' a social and celebratory location with incomparable views of the mountains and Lake Valle de Bravo.

"'Rancho El Salto' is a renowned property and jewel within the glorious Valle de Bravo, as it offers a spectacular opportunity for enjoyment and recreation just as much as relaxation," said Diaz. "The property can be enjoyed as the perfect family getaway destination, or as a potential investment leveraged into the hospitality space; regardless, it offers the most ultra of experiences in a sunny,
