Casemore Gallery unveils "Some Polar Expiation, an Enormous Cat, a Complete Collection of Cinematic Houses at Night, a Starlet, a Mentor, some Assorted Reveries & a Message from the Future," a comprehensive retrospective of Todd Hido's photographic work. Hosted at the expansive Minnesota Street Project, the exhibition features selections from Hido's latest series, "The End Sends Advance Warning," alongside his seminal "House Hunting" collection and pivotal works from his career.

Born in Kent, Ohio, in 1968, Todd Hido's vision emerges from his meticulous exploration of suburban landscapes, as seen in his acclaimed series, "House Hunting." Revealing the eerie twilight melancholy beneath American suburbia's veneer, Hido captures scenes suffused with silent turmoil and existential yearning.

Included in the exhibition is "Dad On The Bed," an image by the late Larry Sultan, a cherished mentor to Hido. Reflecting on Sultan's influence, Hido remarks, "House Hunting was born in part from his mentorship," underscoring Sultan's impact on his artistic vision.

"The End Sends Advance Warning" transports viewers to ethereal landscapes, offering a reflection on hope amidst a tumultuous world. Todd Hido's celebrated career has been showcased globally, influencing both fine art photography and cinematic productions.

An opening reception and book signing with artist in attendance will be held on Saturday, May 4, from 5-7pm at Minnesota Street Project.
