Consulting Group, a woman-owned, woman-led provider of comprehensive services related to the implementation and support of the UKG® platform of HR, payroll and workforce management solutions, announced it has reached an agreement to acquire the UKG Workforce Management practice from Agilea Solutions, a provider of innovative platforms that empower the workforce management ecosystem.

Krystyn Sadler, CEO of Mosaic Consulting Group

The integration of Agilea’s Workforce Management operations into Mosaic marks a milestone in Mosaic’s growth strategy, enhancing its ability to serve a wider range of clients with even more specialized and comprehensive UKG support.

With this acquisition, Agilea will focus its efforts on advancing its core products—Workerbee, TestAssure, and PayAssure Managed Services—that enable businesses to enhance operational efficiency, streamline payroll and embrace the gig economy.

Both companies are committed to ensuring a smooth transition for all clients and employees involved. All Agilea associates currently part of the UKG Workforce Management practice will join the Mosaic team, allowing continuity of service.

Marce Roth, president and CEO of Agilea Solutions, said the acquisition allows Agilea to concentrate on its mission of enabling customers, partners and the entire workforce management ecosystem through its innovative platforms. As a certified woman-owned and minority-owned business, Agilea is pleased to transition the practice to Mosaic, another woman-owned organization.

“Divesting our UKG practice allows us to focus fully on our core offerings that enable the workforce management community,” said Roth. “We are confident that our UKG clients will continue to receive exceptional service under Mosaic's leadership.”

Krystyn Sadler, CEO and culture warrior of Mosaic Consulting Group, said the acquisition significantly strengthens Mosaic's full suite of UKG solutions and reinforces the company's position as the preferred provider of UKG support.

“This strategic enhancement of our capabilities extends our commitment to providing best-in-class UKG support and positions us to better serve our expanding customer base,” said Sadler. “Additionally, we are excited to welcome Agilea's skilled workforce management team to the Mosaic family, where together, we will continue to drive innovation and exceptional service in the marketplace.”

As part of the acquisition process, Mosaic has engaged P2V, a business advisory firm, to help execute growth strategies and maximize company performance.
