To develop a complete mind: Study the science of art; Study the art of science. Learn how to see. Realize that everything connects to everything else.”

Leonardo Da Vinci

DropShot believes supporting the arts is critical in an age where the line between mathematics and art is getting less distinct. DropShot uses cutting-edge technology to make the right decisions for your portfolio, and we think supporting cutting-edge endeavors in the artistic community is equally important. We are thankful to live in an age where computers can fuel both financial and artistic gains. Science is driving the future of art and transforming the world in which we live into a haven for free, fair and innovative thinking.
