Summit attendees can expect a jam-packed schedule of networking events, expert-led sessions, immersive boot camps, and the chance to secure an independent, vendoragnostic certification—the only of its kind—centered around email deliverability.

The four-day summit (2 days of learning couched between a day of networking either side) will feature industry experts, including Nathalie Small, Sr.

Compliance & Deliverability Specialist of Bird; Guy Hanson, Vice President, Customer Engagement of Validity; Barry Abel, Chief Revenue Officer, Halon; Pierre Pignault of MailSoar, Florin Armasu of Data Innovation; Raymond Dijkxhoorn, CEO, SURBL; Sandy Kartopawiro, Co-Founder, SEINō, Steven Henderson of Emarsys an SAP company; Yanna-Torry Aspraki, Deliverability Specialist & CRO, EmailConsul; Gerasim Hovhannisyan, CEO & Co-founder, EasyDMARC; Willem Stam, Partner, Postmastery and Julio Roldós Carrera, CEO, El Canal del Marketing have already confirmed their speaking at the event.

The Deliverability Summit is committed to creating an intensive, classroom-style environment capped at a finite number of participants. This strategy ensures a maximal interaction among attendees and a rich learning opportunity.

Registered attendees will receive numerous benefits, including four-course gourmet lunches, refreshments available throughout the day, exclusive entry to networking events, and the possibility to qualify for two distinct Deliverability Certificates from Emailexpert.

We encourage interested individuals to secure their spot as early as possible due to the event's limited capacity. Tickets are available for purchase at https://alicante.deliverabilitysummit.com. The speaker list and event schedule will be continuously updated on the website leading up to the summit's commencement.

Additionally, the event hosts a dedicated UnConference track alongside the main conference schedule. This alternative track comprised of scripted and unscripted discussions, short presentations and panel discussions aims to encourage open dialogue and innovation within the industry.

The event will also provide opportunities for attendees to earn two types of certification – emailexpert Fundamentals of Email Deliverability certificate for beginners in this area, and emailexpert Certified Deliverability Specialist qualification for those with prior experience. Both certificates can be earned by passing an online test during or after the event, with retesting and online support options available for up to a year afterward.
