

Al Aman Fund Achieves ISO Certification for Quality Management System

"As a reflection of its commitment to excellence in contributing to the future of orphaned youth"

AMMAN , JORDAN, May 6, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- May 2024, Al Aman Fund announced its attainment of ISO certification (ISO 9001:2015), accreditation certificate from the SGS company, a global leader in section, verification, testing and verification services. Which marks a significant achievement in its commitment to excellence in quality management and continuous improvement of its administrative processes. This accomplishment follows the completion of auditing procedures, document review, and verification of the Fund's compliance with the requirements of the quality management system standards set by the accredited authority, Al Bassam for Quality Systems (BQS), in Jordan.

Nour Al-Hamoud, the General Manager of Al Aman Fund, says that this achievement demonstrates the dedication of Al Aman employees to securing the future of orphaned youth. She stated that obtaining this certification was among Al Aman strategic goals, reflecting its commitment to predetermined efforts and continuous development to enhance its reputation, transparency, efficiency, and professionalism, with donors, partners, and society at large.

Mohammed Ayyash, the Internal Audit & Compliance Manager, highlighted the importance of this achievement, affirming Al Aman ongoing efforts to uphold global quality standards and enhance them across all programs. He emphasized the promotion of a culture of continuous improvement and compliance with international best practices to ensure a better future for orphaned youth with high levels of integrity and transparency.
